Biography

Anna Käferböck a.k.a. “Jonglina” is an Austrian juggler and street performer. Fascinated by appearances in front of an audience since her childhood, she began to learn the basics of ball juggling and unicycling at the age of seven.

In addition to balls, she soon learned to juggle clubs and rings, play diabolo and throw cigar boxes, devilsticks and hats through the air. After the first performances for family and friends, public appearances followed soon.

In 2016 she started to design figures and decorations from modelling balloons.

In 2017 she developed her first street show. Her dream to make people happy with her own show and to make the audience forget the worries of everyday life came true.

She has been performing as a professional juggler since 2018 and makes people laugh and be amazed through artistry, comedy and juggling.

In addition, she regularly gives workshops and teaches children and adults the art of juggling.

Balloon figures as a walking act

In front of the spectators' eyes, breath-taking balloons are created in no time. And after a few minutes, balloons in a wide variety of shapes and colours can be seen everywhere. Visitors will be able to remember your event for a long time thanks to the balloon sculptures taken home by young and old.

Juggling as a walking act

At your request, juggling with balls, clubs, knives and diabolos as well as other props can be performed as a walking act.

Unicycling as a walking act

With her high unicycle, Jonglina cannot be overlooked, especially when balls, clubs or knives are thrown through the air. Balloon figures can also be created on the unicycle.

A maximum of 15 minutes in continuous use. Enough space for the performance is necessary.

A highlight at every event is the combination of a walking act with a street or stage show. Individual requests are gladly considered

- exercises for club and ring juggling
- basics of dealing with the diabolo and first throws
- instructions for handling various juggling props such as plates, devil sticks and hats
- practice the various utensils in workstations
- working out a small show together with a subsequent presentation

Jonglina teaches children and teenagers as well as adults the art of juggling. Juggling not only benefits the concentration and skilfulness but most of all it is fun. In addition to the basics of “three ball juggling”, basic techniques with other juggling props, such as diabolos or clubs are also learned. But it is not only great for beginners. Even for advanced people, the professional juggler always has tips on juggling technique or suggestions for new juggling tricks.

Also possible for school projects like Introductory days. The trainee teacher will be happy to create a tailor-made program for your school, taking the needs and ages of the students into account. At the end of the workshop a small performance can also be created together with the children and teenagers.

Balloon workshop

The participants will learn the basics of balloon modelling. In addition to the basic knowledge of balloons, the different sizes and basic figures, the first own balloon figures are created under instruction and can of course also be taken home. All necessary materials are provided.

Learning how to juggle is not difficult.

And yet it requires the right technique and practice. Under the guidance of a professional juggler, visitors of your event can try juggling in passing and learn the first steps. Various juggling props such as rings, clubs, balls, hats, diabolos, plates and scarfs can be tried out. This way everyone becomes an artist. More experienced children, teenagers and adults learn first tricks or get new suggestions and further advise on the right juggling technique.

The combination of the circus Workshop with a show is recommended. So visitors can first enjoy a show and see what is possible with juggling. You can then try out the props you saw.

Previous appearances including

- Linzer Pflasterspektakel
- Flaniermeile Velden am Wörthersee
- Mühlviertler Speckdackel
- Various street performance festivals (see homepage)
- Workshops at schools (for example Mittelschule Gallneukirchen or Volksschule Baumgartenberg)
- Silvester im AIGO welcome family, family hotel
- Numerous appearances on children's and adults' birthday parties
